PROSODY

- Used to analyze written pros and poetry to find the intonation and inflection
- We can use Prosody to help us analyze our lyrics to help us understand how to better communicate the intention and/or the story by locating the important words in a phrase.
- With careful understanding of the arrangement's form
 - we can shape this emphasis over the whole arrangement to develop an arc, climax, or pinnacle.
